

Need to address social inequities highlighted during Covid pandemic: AIIMS chief Randeep Guleria
Panelists at the Bharat Soka Gakkai webinar concurred that the current crisis can only be resolved through a new era of cooperation.

New Delhi, Sep 9 (PTI) There is a need to address social inequities that the COVID-19 pandemic has highlighted, including in the healthcare sector, All India Institute of Medical Science (AIIMS) chief Randeep Guleria has said. He made the remarks during an online peace symposium hosted on Wednesday by Bharat Soka Gakkai (BSG). The long shadows of COVID-19 that has engulfed the world shows that global cooperation and solidarity are no longer a matter of choice but of survival, panelists concurred.

This webinar also marked the launch of BSG's new symposium series "Dialogue in Action: Empowering Humanity", the BSG said in a statement on Thursday.

"The concept, "leave no one behind" is most relevant in these pandemic times. We need to address social inequities that the pandemic highlighted -- in the healthcare sections, with the migrants and in the education sector where many were left behind. The important message is to emphasise that each life matters," Guleria was quoted as saying in the statement.

Every year since 1983, Soka Gakkai International (SGI) President Daisaku Ikeda has authored a peace proposal offering possible solutions to global issues. He has done this as a steadfast supporter of the ideals and potential of the United Nations. BSG, has organised peace symposia every year, based on these proposals, with the aim of making Ikeda's vision a reality, it said.

"Our shared efforts to respond to the pandemic can serve as a foundation for generating global awareness of the essential role of human solidarity in transforming the crisis," said Ikeda.

Panelists at the webinar concurred that the current crisis can only be resolved through a new era of cooperation.

Need To Address Social Inequalities Covid Highlighted: AIIMS Chief

New Delhi: There is a need to address social inequities that the COVID-19 pandemic has highlighted, including in the healthcare sector, All India Institute of Medical Science (AIIMS) chief Randeep Guleria has said.

He made the remarks during an online peace symposium hosted on Wednesday by Bharat Soka Gakkai (BSG).

The long shadows of COVID-19 that has engulfed the world shows that global cooperation and solidarity are no longer a matter of choice but of survival, panelists concurred.

This webinar also marked the launch of BSG's new symposium series 'Dialogue in Action: Empowering Humanity', the BSG said in a statement on Thursday.

"The concept, 'leave no one behind' is most relevant in these pandemic times. We need to address social inequities that the pandemic highlighted -- in the healthcare sections, with the migrants and in the education sector where many were left behind. The important message is to emphasise that each life matters," Mr Guleria was quoted as saying in the statement.

Every year since 1983, Soka Gakkai International (SGI) President Daisaku Ikeda has authored a peace proposal offering possible solutions to global issues. He has done this as a steadfast supporter of the ideals and potential of the United Nations. BSG, has organised peace symposia every year, based on these proposals, with the aim of making Ikeda's vision a reality, it said.

"Our shared efforts to respond to the pandemic can serve as a foundation for generating global awareness of the essential role of human solidarity in transforming the crisis," said Ikeda.

Need to address social inequities pandemic highlighted: AIIMS chief

New Delhi, Sep 9 (PTI) There is a need to address social inequities that the COVID-19 pandemic has highlighted, including in the healthcare sector, All India Institute of Medical Science (AIIMS) chief Randeep Guleria has said. He made the remarks during an online peace symposium hosted on Wednesday by Bharat Soka Gakkai (BSG). The long shadows of COVID-19 that has engulfed the world shows that global cooperation and solidarity are no longer a matter of choice but of survival, panelists concurred.

This webinar also marked the launch of BSG's new symposium series "Dialogue in Action: Empowering Humanity", the BSG said in a statement on Thursday.

"The concept, "leave no one behind" is most relevant in these pandemic times. We need to address social inequities that the pandemic highlighted -- in the healthcare sections, with the migrants and in the education sector where many were left behind. The important message is to emphasise that each life matters," Guleria was quoted as saying in the statement.

Every year since 1983, Soka Gakkai International (SGI) President Daisaku Ikeda has authored a peace proposal offering possible solutions to global issues. He has done this as a steadfast supporter of the ideals and potential of the United Nations. BSG, has organised peace symposia every year, based on these proposals, with the aim of making Ikeda's vision a reality, it said.

"Our shared efforts to respond to the pandemic can serve as a foundation for generating global awareness of the essential role of human solidarity in transforming the crisis," said Ikeda.

Panelists at the webinar concurred that the current crisis can only be resolved through a new era of cooperation.

'Global cooperation, solidarity a matter of survival, not choice'

PNS ■ LUCKNOW

The long shadow of COVID-19 which has engulfed the world shows that global cooperation and solidarity are no longer a matter of choice but of survival, panellists said at an peace symposium organised online by Bharat Soka Gakkai (BSG) on Wednesday.

The webinar also marked the launch of BSG's new symposium series 'Dialogue in Action: Empowering Humanity'. The webinar was based on Soka Gakkai International (SGI) president Daisaku Ikeda's 39th Peace Proposal titled 'Value Creation in a Time of Crisis'. The panellists highlighted that the core philosophy of respect for each person and for the environment has become an absolute necessity.

In his opening remarks, Director of All-India Institute of Medical Sciences, New Delhi, Dr Randeep Guleria said the concept of 'Leave no one behind' is the most relevant in these pandemic times. "We need to address social inequities that the pandemic has highlighted," he said.

Every year since 1983, Ikeda has authored a peace proposal offering possible solutions to global issues. He has done this as a steadfast supporter of the ideals and potential of the United Nations. BSG has organised peace symposia every year, based on these proposals, with the aim of making Ikeda's vision a reality.

"Our shared efforts to respond to the pandemic can serve as a foundation for generating global awareness of the essential role of human solidarity in transforming the crisis," Ikeda said in this year's proposal. The panellists concurred that the current crisis can only be resolved through a new era of cooperation.

Reaffirming the role of education in value creation, Shaheen Mistri, founder and CEO, Teach for India, said: "There has never been a time in history when we have needed to operate as much with love as we do today, and my belief is that our schools can play a huge role in building not just learners, but a humane society."

Drawing inspiration from the peace proposal, founder and chairperson the Impulse NGO Network Hasina Kharbhih said, "We must be fearless and faithful around the change we want to see, especially during the time of crisis."

BSG chairperson Vishesh Gupta said: "I am confident that the doors to a hope-filled future will be thrown wide open the moment we decide to cherish the spirit of compassion to treasure each life and to be alongside those who are vulnerable and in need of support."

Need to address social inequities highlighted during Covid pandemic: AIIMS chief Randeep Guleria

New Delhi, Sep 9 (PTI) There is a need to address social inequities that the COVID-19 pandemic has highlighted, including in the healthcare sector, All India Institute of Medical Science (AIIMS) chief Randeep Guleria has said. He made the remarks during an online peace symposium hosted on Wednesday by Bharat Soka Gakkai (BSG). The long shadows of COVID-19 that has engulfed the world shows that global cooperation and solidarity are no longer a matter of choice but of survival, panelists concurred.

This webinar also marked the launch of BSG's new symposium series "Dialogue in Action: Empowering Humanity", the BSG said in a statement on Thursday.

"The concept, "leave no one behind" is most relevant in these pandemic times. We need to address social inequities that the pandemic highlighted -- in the healthcare sections, with the migrants and in the education sector where many were left behind. The important message is to emphasise that each life matters," Guleria was quoted as saying in the statement.

Every year since 1983, Soka Gakkai International (SGI) President Daisaku Ikeda has authored a peace proposal offering possible solutions to global issues. He has done this as a steadfast supporter of the ideals and potential of the United Nations. BSG, has organised peace symposia every year, based on these proposals, with the aim of making Ikeda's vision a reality, it said.

"Our shared efforts to respond to the pandemic can serve as a foundation for generating global awareness of the essential role of human solidarity in transforming the crisis," said Ikeda.

Panelists at the webinar concurred that the current crisis can only be resolved through a new era of cooperation.

BSG Webinar Highlights Importance Of Global Cooperation During COVID-19 Pandemic

The long shadows of COVID-19 that have engulfed the world show that global cooperation and solidarity are no longer a matter of choice but of survival, panelists at a peace symposium webinar organized by the Bharat Soka Gakkai (BSG), said on Wednesday.

This webinar also marks the launch of BSG's new symposium series 'Dialogue in Action: Empowering Humanity'.

The panelists at the webinar, which was based on Soka Gakkai International (SGI) President Daisaku Ikeda's 39th Peace Proposal titled "Value Creation in a Time of Crisis," highlighted that the core philosophy of respect for each person and for the environment has become an absolute necessity.

Ikeda said, "Our shared efforts to respond to the pandemic can serve as a foundation for generating global awareness of the essential role of human solidarity in transforming the crisis."

Dr. Randeep Guleria, Director, All-India Institute of Medical Sciences, New Delhi, said, "The concept, 'Leave no one behind' is most relevant in these pandemic times. We need to address social inequities that the pandemic highlighted- in the healthcare sections, with the migrants and in the education sector where many were left behind. The important message is to emphasize that each life matters"

Reaffirming the role of education in value creation, Shaheen Mistri, Founder and CEO, Teach for India, said, "There has never been a time in history when we have needed to operate as much with love as we do today and my belief is that our schools can play a huge role in building not just learners, but a humane society."

Drawing inspiration from the Peace Proposal, Hasina Kharbhih, Founder and Chairperson of the Impulse NGO Network said that we must be fearless and faithful around the change we want to see, especially during the time of crisis.

Sujay Santra, Founder and CEO of iKureTechsoft said "The pandemic has been the time to build resilience in the public healthcare system".

BSG Chairperson, Vishesh Gupta shared that, "I am confident that the doors to a hope-filled future will be thrown wide open the moment we decide to cherish the spirit of compassion to treasure each life and to be alongside those who are vulnerable and most in need of support. As the common saying goes: 'When we light a lantern for others, our own way forward is lit.'"

Rashi Ahuja, Director, and Head of External Relations, BSG, expressed her gratitude to the audience for participating in the webinar and called for a commitment to cultivating a society that is guided by the principle of respect for dignity of life.

SGI, (Soka Gakkai International) has over 12 million members in 192 countries and territories around the world. Meanwhile, BSG (Bharat Soka Gakkai) is the Indian affiliate of Soka Gakkai International (SGI).

BSG Webinar highlights the need for global cooperation in the wake of Covid pandemic

The long shadows of COVID-19 that has engulfed the world shows that global cooperation and solidarity are no longer a matter of choice but of survival, panelists at a peace symposium webinar organized by the Bharat Soka Gakkai (BSG), said on Wednesday. This webinar also marks the launch of BSG's new symposium series 'Dialogue in Action: Empowering Humanity'. The panelists at the webinar, which was based on Soka Gakkai International (SGI) President Daisaku Ikeda's 39th Peace Proposal titled "Value Creation in a Time of Crisis," highlighted that the core philosophy of respect for each person and for the environment, has become an absolute necessity.

अखिल भारतीय आयुर्विज्ञान संस्थान (एम्स) प्रमुख रणदीप गुलेरिया ने कहा कि कोविड-19 महामारी ने स्वास्थ्य क्षेत्र समेत जिन सामाजिक असमानताओं को उजागर किया है, उसे दूर करने की जरूरत है। बुधवार को भारत सोका गकाई (बीएसजी) की ओर से आयोजित एक ऑनलाइन शांति संगोष्ठी के दौरान एम्स प्रमुख ने यह टिप्पणी की।

गुलेरिया को एक बयान में यह कहते हुए उद्धृत किया गया कि 'किसी को पीछे न छोड़ो' की अवधारणा इस महामारी काल में सबसे ज्यादा प्रासंगिक है और महामारी ने प्रवासी श्रमिकों के मुद्दे और स्वास्थ्य क्षेत्र तथा शिक्षा क्षेत्र में जिस तरह की सामाजिक विषमता को उजागर किया है, उन्हें दूर करने की जरूरत है। सबसे महत्वपूर्ण संदेश यही है कि हर जीवन कीमती है।

इस संगोष्ठी के पैनल सदस्यों ने इस बात पर सहमति जताई कि दुनिया को बेहद प्रभावित करने वाली कोविड-19 महामारी ने यह दिखाया है कि वैश्विक सहयोग और एकजुटता सिर्फ पसंद की नहीं बल्कि अस्तित्व की बात हो गई है। बीएसजी ने गुरुवार को एक बयान में कहा कि इस वेबिनार में 'डायलॉग इन एक्शन: एम्पावरिंग ह्यूमेनिटी' विषय पर संगोष्ठी की नई श्रृंखला की शुरुआत हुई।

Need to address social inequities highlighted during Covid pandemic: AIIMS chief Randeep Guleria

New Delhi, Sep 9 (PTI) There is a need to address social inequities that the COVID-19 pandemic has highlighted, including in the healthcare sector, All India Institute of Medical Science (AIIMS) chief Randeep Guleria has said. He made the remarks during an online peace symposium hosted on Wednesday by Bharat Soka Gakkai (BSG). The long shadows of COVID-19 that has engulfed the world shows that global cooperation and solidarity are no longer a matter of choice but of survival, panelists concurred.

This webinar also marked the launch of BSG's new symposium series "Dialogue in Action: Empowering Humanity", the BSG said in a statement on Thursday.

"The concept, "leave no one behind" is most relevant in these pandemic times. We need to address social inequities that the pandemic highlighted -- in the healthcare sections, with the migrants and in the education sector where many were left behind. The important message is to emphasise that each life matters," Guleria was quoted as saying in the statement.

Every year since 1983, Soka Gakkai International (SGI) President Daisaku Ikeda has authored a peace proposal offering possible solutions to global issues. He has done this as a steadfast supporter of the ideals and potential of the United Nations. BSG, has organised peace symposia every year, based on these proposals, with the aim of making Ikeda's vision a reality, it said.

"Our shared efforts to respond to the pandemic can serve as a foundation for generating global awareness of the essential role of human solidarity in transforming the crisis," said Ikeda.

Panelists at the webinar concurred that the current crisis can only be resolved through a new era of cooperation.

'Health is a fundamental right that needs to be provided to every citizen:' Dr Randeep Guleria

TV9.com

Leave no one behind in pandemic times, said Dr Randeep Guleria, director, AIIMS during an online symposium on Wednesday. "The concept, 'Leave no one behind' is most relevant in these pandemic times. We need to address social inequities that the pandemic highlighted -- in the healthcare sector, with the migrants and in the education sector where many were left behind. The important message is to emphasize that each life matters," said Dr Guleria at an online symposium organised by Bharat Soka Gakkai (BSG), the Indian arm of the Soka Gakkai International.

The event marked the launch of BSG's new symposium series 'Dialogue in Action: Empowering Humanity'. The other speakers at the symposium included Shaheen Mistri, founder and CEO, Teach for India and Hasina Kharbi, founder and chairperson, Impulse NGO network, Sujay Santra, founder and CEO, ikure and Vishesh Gupta, chairman, BSG. Dr Guleria said the message "leave no one behind" is very important and has become more relevant in the pandemic. The inequality was already there in terms of health, education, or social structure but pandemic has made it more evident. "We need to echo these issues at a larger scale. If we do not, we would not have a vibrant and healthy society." He further highlighted that the public health sector needs more investment compared to the private sector. Primary health centres, treatment of the poor, and affordable medicines are some areas that need more supervision. Mistri spoke about the role of education in value creation. "There has never been a time in history when we have needed to operate as much with love as we do today and my belief is that our schools can play a huge role in building not just learners, but a humane society," said Mistri. The pandemic is an opportunity for the global community to redesign the health sector so that health becomes an important factor in the coming days. "Health is a fundamental right and that needs to be provided to every citizen", Dr Guleria said. The AIIMS director also talked about the difficulties faced by healthcare workers during the pandemic. He shared an anecdote of a health care worker living on the 5th floor of the residence, the landlord used to switch off the lift during the night over a fear of getting infected. "During the pandemic the goodness of people has been buried, the society has become more materialistic than value-based, the people could get aware about it with the help of education," said Dr Guleria and added that the third wave is not going to be bad as it is anticipated.

BSG वेबिनार में एम्स डायरेक्टर डॉ गुलेरिया बोले- महामारी में हम किसी को भी पीछे न छोड़ें, ये महत्वपूर्ण है
BSG अध्यक्ष विशेष गुप्ता ने कहा, जब हम उन लोगों के साथ खड़े होंगे, जिन्हें समर्थन या सहायता की अत्याधिक आवश्यकता है.तो आशा से भरे एक नए युग के द्वार स्वतः ही खुल जाएंगे.

नई दिल्ली: भारत सोका गाक्का (BSG) ने कोविड-19 महामारी के मद्देनजर बुधवार को एक वेबिनार का आयोजन किया. इस कार्यक्रम में कई वक्ताओं ने लंबे समय से दुनिया को चपेट में लेने वाली कोरोना महामारी पर अपनी बात रखी. वेबिनार में पैनलिस्टों ने सहमति व्यक्त की कि मौजूदा संकट को सहयोग के एक नए युग द्वारा ही हल किया जा सकता है. एम्स डायरेक्टर डॉ रणदीप गुलेरिया ने कहा कि इस महामारी के समय में हम किसी को भी पीछे न छोड़ें, यह सबसे अधिक महत्वपूर्ण है.

डॉ गुलेरिया ने कहा, "इस महामारी के समय में 'किसी को भी पीछे न छोड़ें' की अवधारणा सबसे अधिक महत्वपूर्ण है. हमें उन सामाजिक असमानताओं को दूर करने की जरूरत है, जो महामारी के समय और उभर कर सामने आयी हैं. स्वास्थ्य सेवा, शिक्षा के क्षेत्र की असमानता, जहां कई लोग पीछे रह गए. प्रवासियों की समस्याएं. महत्वपूर्ण संदेश इस बात पर जोर देना है कि प्रत्येक जीवन मायने रखता है. हमें वाततव में सार्वजनिक क्षेत्र के स्वास्थ्य में निवेश करने की आवश्यकता है. लोग सिर्फ अपने स्वास्थ्य की देखभाल करने के लिए गरीबी रेखा से नीचे चले गए हैं."

बता दें, साल 1983 से हर साल सोका गाक्काई इंटरनेशनल के अध्यक्ष दाईसाकु इकेदा एक शांति प्रस्ताव लिखते आए हैं, जिसमें वैश्विक मुद्दों के सांभावित समाधान प्रस्तुत करते हैं. उन्होंने इसे संयुक्त राष्ट्र के आदर्शों और क्षमता के एक दृढ़ समर्थक के रूप में किया है. इकेदा ने अपने 2021 के प्रस्ताव में कहा, "महामारी से निपटने के हमारे साझा प्रयास इस संकट को पूरी तरह बदलने में मानव एकजुटता की आवश्यकता को स्पष्ट करते हैं. इस बारे में वैश्विक जागरूकता पैदा करने के लिए यह एक आधार के रूप में काम कर सकते हैं."

बी एस जी अध्यक्ष विशेष गुप्ता ने कहा, "जब हम करुणा की भावना से प्रेरित होकर प्रत्येक जीवन को बहुमूल्य समझेंगे और उन लोगों के साथ खड़े होंगे, जिन्हें समर्थन या सहायता की अत्याधिक आवश्यकता है. मेरा विश्वास है तब आशा से भरे एक नए युग के द्वार स्वतः ही खुल जाएंगे. जैसा कि एक आम कहावत है जब हम दूसरों के लिए रौशनी करते हैं, तो हमारा मार्ग स्वतः ही प्रकाशित हो जाता है."

BSG Webinar highlights the need for Global Cooperation in the wake of Covid-19 pandemic

New Delhi, Sept 8, 2021: The long shadows of COVID-19 that has engulfed the world shows that global cooperation and solidarity are no longer a matter of choice but of survival, panelists at a peace symposium webinar organized by the Bharat Soka Gakkai (BSG), said on Wednesday. This webinar also marks the launch of BSG's new symposium series 'Dialogue in Action: Empowering Humanity'.

The panelists at the webinar, which was based on Soka Gakkai International (SGI) President Daisaku Ikeda's 39th Peace Proposal titled "Value Creation in a Time of Crisis," highlighted that the core philosophy of respect for each person and for the environment, has become an absolute necessity.

Every year since 1983, SGI President Daisaku Ikeda has authored a peace proposal offering possible solutions to global issues. He has done this as a steadfast supporter of the ideals and potential of the United Nations. BSG, has organized peace symposia every year, based on these Proposals, with the aim of making Ikeda's vision a reality.

"Our shared efforts to respond to the pandemic can serve as a foundation for generating global awareness of the essential role of human solidarity in transforming the crisis," says Ikeda in the 2021 proposal. Panelists at the webinar concurred that the current crisis can only be resolved through a new era of cooperation.

Padma Shri, Dr Randeep Guleria, Director, All-India Institute of Medical Sciences, New Delhi, said that In his opening remarks, Padma Shri, Dr Randeep Guleria, Director, All-India Institute of Medical Sciences, New Delhi, said that, "The concept, 'Leave no one behind' is most relevant in these pandemic times. We need to address social inequities that the pandemic highlighted -- in the healthcare sections, with the migrants and in the education sector where many were left behind. The important message is to emphasize that each life matters"

Dr Guleria has been at the forefront of India's fight against the COVID-19 crisis.

Reaffirming the role of education in value creation, Ms Shaheen Mistri, Founder and CEO, Teach for India, said "There has never been a time in history when we have needed to operate as much with love as we do today and my belief is that our schools can play a huge role in building not just learners, but a humane society."

Drawing inspiration from the Peace Proposal, Ms Hasina Kharbhih, Founder and Chairperson of the Impulse NGO Network said, "We must be fearless and faithful around the change we want to see, especially during the time of crisis."

महामारी के दौर में कोई छूट न जाए पीछे : प्रो. गुलेरिया

■ वैश्विक सहयोग और एकजुटता चयन का नहीं, अस्तित्व का है मसला

नई दिल्ली, 8 सितम्बर (नवोदय टाइम्स): एम्स निदेशक प्रो. रणदीप गुलेरिया ने कहा कि महामारी काल में किसी को भी पीछे न छोड़ने की अवधारणा सबसे अधिक प्रासंगिक और महत्वपूर्ण है। हमें वैसी सामाजिक असमानताओं को दूर करने की जरूरत है, जो महामारी के समय ज्यादा उभर कर सामने आई हैं। स्वास्थ्य सेवा, शिक्षा के क्षेत्र की असमानता के चलते कई लोग पीछे रह गए। हमें यह समझना होगा कि प्रत्येक जीवन महत्वपूर्ण है और मायने रखता है।

हमें वास्तव में सार्वजनिक क्षेत्र के

स्वास्थ्य में निवेश करने की आवश्यकता है। उपचार करवाने के क्रम में लोग गरीबी रेखा से नीचे चले जाते हैं, यह चिंताजनक है। प्रो. गुलेरिया ने यह बात बुधवार को भारत सोका गाव्काई द्वारा आयोजित एक वर्चुअल शांति संगोष्ठी में कही। इस दौरान अन्य वक्ताओं ने इस बात पर विशेष जोर दिया कि लंबे समय तक विश्व को अपनी चपेट में लेने वाली कोविड-19 की छाया दर्शाती है कि वैश्विक सहयोग और एकजुटता अब चयन की नहीं बल्कि अस्तित्व की बात है।

बीएसए वेबिनर कोविड - 19 पेन्डेमिकने पगले वैश्विक सहयोगनी जरूरियात पर प्रकाश पाडे छे

कोविड - 19 ना लांबा पडछाया के जेधे विश्वने घेरी लीधुं छे ते दशवि छे के वैश्विक सहकार अने अेकता हवे कोई पसंदगीनी भाभत नथी परंतु अस्तित्वनी भाभत छे, भारत सोका गक्काई द्वारा आयोजित शांति सिम्पोजियम वेबिनारमां पेनलिस्टसअे (बीएसए), बुधवारे जषाव्युं हतुं आ वेबिनर म्छर नी नवी सिम्पोजियम श्रेष्ठी 'डायलोग इन अेकशन: अेम्पावरिंग ह्युमनिटी' ने पषा लोन्व करे छे. सोका गक्काई ईन्टरनेशनल (अेसएआई) ना प्रमुप दार्छाकु ईकेदाना उल मा शांति प्रस्ताव पर आधारित आ वेबिनारमां, जेनुं शीर्षक "कटोकटीना समयमां मूल्य सज्जन" छे, वेबिनारना पेनलिस्टो ते व्यक्त करे छे के दरेक व्यक्ति अने पर्यावरण माटे आदर अे हवे अेक मुष्य किलसुडी बनी गथुं छे

अने ते अेक योक्कस जरूरियात छे. पद्मश्री, ओपन ईन्डिया ईन्स्टीट्युट ओफ मेडिकल सायन्स, नवी दिल्लीना डायरेक्टर डॉ. रणदीप गुलेरियाअे पोतानी शरूआतनी टिप्पणीमां जषाव्युं हतुं के, "आ पान्डेमिकना समयमां 'कोईने अेकला अथवा पाछण न मुको' ज्याल सौधी वधु

सुसंगत छे. आपषे सामाजिक असमानताओने संबोधवानी जरूर छे जे पान्डेमिकअे प्रकाशित करी छती - आरोग्यसंभाण विभागोमां, स्थणांतर करनाराओ साथे अने शिक्षा क्षेत्रमां जयां घषा पाछण रही गया छता. महत्वनो संदेश अे वात पर भार मूकवानो छे के दरेक जवन महत्वनुं छे"

BSG Webinar highlights the need for Global Cooperation in the wake of Covid-19 pandemic:

NEW DELHI: The long shadows of COVID-19 that has engulfed the world shows that global cooperation and solidarity are no longer a matter of choice but of survival, panelists at a peace symposium webinar organized by the Bharat Soka Gakkai (BSG), said on Wednesday. This webinar also marks the launch of BSG's new symposium series 'Dialogue in Action: Empowering Humanity'. The panelists at the webinar, which was based on Soka Gakkai International (SGI) President Daisaku Ikeda's 39th Peace Proposal titled "Value Creation in a Time of Crisis," highlighted that the core philosophy of respect for each person and for the environment, has become an absolute necessity. Every year since 1983, SGI President Daisaku Ikeda has authored a peace proposal offering possible solutions to global issues. He has done this as a steadfast supporter of the ideals and potential of the United Nations. BSG, has organized peace symposia every year, based on these Proposals, with the aim of making Ikeda's vision a reality. "Our shared efforts to respond to the pandemic can serve as a foundation for generating global awareness of the essential role of human solidarity in transforming the crisis," says Ikeda in the 2021 proposal. Panelists at the webinar concurred that the current crisis can only be resolved through a new era of cooperation. Padma Shri, Dr Randeep Guleria, Director, All-India Institute of Medical Sciences, New Delhi, said that In his opening remarks, Padma Shri, Dr Randeep Guleria, Director, All-India Institute of Medical Sciences, New Delhi, said that, "The concept, 'Leave no one behind' is most relevant in these pandemic times. We need to address social inequities that the pandemic highlighted -- in the healthcare sections, with the migrants and in the education sector where many were left behind. The important message is to emphasize that each life matters" Dr Guleria has been at the forefront of India's fight against the COVID-19 crisis. Reaffirming the role of education in value creation, haheen Mistri, Founder and CEO, Teach for India, said "There has never been a time in history when we have needed to operate as much with love as we do today and my belief is that our schools can play a huge role in building not just learners, but a humane society." Drawing inspiration from the Peace Proposal, Hasina Kharbhih, Founder and Chairperson of the Impulse NGO Network said, "We must be fearless and faithful around the change we want to see, especially during the time of crisis." Sujay Santra, Founder and CEO, iKureTechsoft said "The pandemic has been the time to build resilience in the public healthcare system". He shared the importance of creating a shared infrastructure, where people can access healthcare with hope and newer possibilities. BSG Chairperson, Vishesh Gupta shared that, "I am confident that the doors to a hope-filled future will be thrown wide open the moment we decide to cherish the spirit of compassion to treasure each life and to be alongside those who are vulnerable and most in need of support. As the common saying goes: 'When we light a lantern for others, our own way forward is lit.'" Rashi Ahuja, Director and Head of External Relations, BSG, expressed her gratitude to the audience for participating in the webinar and called for a commitment to cultivating a society that is guided by the principle of respect for the dignity of life.