

Bharat Soka Gakkai (BSG)- the Indian arm of SGI, conducted a peace symposium through a webinar

In his peace proposal, President Ikeda says that the world needs to take a holistic approach to issues such as natural disasters and climate change which force people to abandon their long-accustomed homes.

In the throes of the century's worst-ever pandemic that has left a deep scar on humanity, India's intellectual elite urged a new direction for the world at a symposium on Buddhist philosopher and peace activist, Daisaku Ikeda's annual peace proposal to the United Nations.

Drawing from a repository of ancient wisdom and compassion that originated in India, Ikeda's latest peace proposal that is titled "Towards Our Shared Future: Constructing an Era of Human Solidarity," urges nations to recognize their common heritage to confront issues like natural disasters and climate change.

Ikeda, President of Soka Gakkai International (SGI), submits a peace proposal to the UN every year, outlining pragmatic solutions to vexing global issues such as the impact of global warming and trade frictions. Bharat Soka Gakkai (BSG), the Indian arm of SGI, conducted the peace symposium through a first-ever webinar.

"The basis for the conscious pursuit of shared living is found in an appreciation that people who live under the shadow of severe threats are essentially no different from ourselves," says Ikeda. Speakers at the peace symposium said such global solidarity must begin with rekindling core human values.

"The world today needs youth imbibing the universal human values of truth, love, and compassion, holding the spirit of inclusion, embracing the ones who have fallen down, being sensitive to the environment around, youth who promote harmony and world peace, youth who are good human beings," said Prof Aditya Shastri, vice-chancellor, Banasthali Vidyapith. He emphasized upon the need for universal education to help bridge any gaps in society. Keynote speaker Padma Vibhushan Dr Raghunath Mashelkar said, "Disruptive inclusive innovation, which can create the magic of access equality despite income inequality, will be the way to build our peaceful future."

In his peace proposal, Ikeda says that the world needs to take a holistic approach to issues such as natural disasters and climate change which force people to abandon their long-accustomed homes.

"Loss of connection to the land and the associated feelings of grief have been an inescapable aspect of major disasters such as earthquakes and tsunami," he says. "The pain, compounded by the sudden loss of friends and family, can be truly unbearable, and responding to this depth of anguish is an imperative for society as a whole."

Echoing these thoughts, Rajendra Abhyankar, former ambassador and Professor, Indiana University, Bloomington said, "Only a shared sense of crisis will create conditions for nations and people to work together."

Reflecting on Ikeda's concern for affected people, Shloka Nath, executive director of Indian Climate Collaborative and Head of Sustainability, said purposeful change requires a shared vision and goal.

"You have to ensure everyone you bring on board is gazing outward, in the same direction. That is the task before us, in combating climate change," she said. "It exemplifies what we know — no one is protected, and everyone has a responsibility. The time is now, and we have to come together." Vishesh Gupta, Chairperson, BSG highlighted the importance of sensitizing youth as an imperative to bring about a change. "Young people are the game changers and natural peacemakers. Their power and passion can ignite the path to limitless growth and development for entire humanity towards the endless future", he said.

Daisaku Ikeda is the President of Soka Gakkai International is a peacebuilder, philosopher and prolific writer. He is a recipient of around 395 honorary doctorates from universities across the globe. In India, he has been the recipient of 18 academic honours including honorary doctorates/professorships from the University of Delhi, Rabindra Bharati University, Visva-Bharati University in Santiniketan, Himachal Pradesh University and Bharathidasan University, and Manav Rachna University, among several others.

Recognizing his contribution to peace, President Ikeda has been conferred with over 800 honorary citizenships. Among the various awards and accolades, he has also been conferred the UN Peace Award in 1983.

BSG Peace Symposium: The world needs a shared vision to tackle natural disasters

By FPJ Web Desk

Bharat Soka Gakkai (BSG), the Indian arm of SGI, conducted the peace symposium through a first-ever webinar.

In the throes of the century's worst-ever pandemic that has left a deep scar on humanity, India's intellectual elite urged a new direction for the world at a symposium on Buddhist philosopher and peace activist, Daisaku Ikeda's annual peace proposal to the United Nations.

Drawing from a repository of ancient wisdom and compassion that originated in India, Ikeda's latest peace proposal that is titled "Towards Our Shared Future: Constructing an Era of Human Solidarity," urges nations to recognize their common heritage to confront issues like natural disasters and climate change. Ikeda, President of Soka Gakkai International (SGI), submits a peace proposal to the UN every year, outlining pragmatic solutions to vexing global issues such as the impact of global warming and trade frictions.

Bharat Soka Gakkai (BSG), the Indian arm of SGI, conducted the peace symposium through a first-ever webinar. "The basis for the conscious pursuit of shared living is found in an appreciation that people who live under the shadow of severe threats are essentially no different from ourselves," says Ikeda.

Speakers at the peace symposium said such global solidarity must begin with rekindling core human values. "The world today needs youth imbibing the universal human values of truth, love, and compassion, holding the spirit of inclusion, embracing the ones who have fallen down, being sensitive to the environment around, youth who promote harmony and world peace, youth who are good human beings," said Prof Aditya Shastri, vice-chancellor, Banasthali Vidyapith. He emphasized upon the need for universal education to help bridge any gaps in society.

Keynote speaker Padma Vibhushan Dr Raghunath Mashelkar said, "Disruptive inclusive innovation, which can create the magic of access equality despite income inequality, will be the way to build our peaceful future." In his peace proposal, Ikeda says that the world needs to take a holistic approach to issues such as natural disasters and climate change which force people to abandon their long-accustomed homes. "Loss of connection to the land and the associated feelings of grief have been an inescapable aspect of major disasters such as earthquakes and tsunami," he says. "The pain, compounded by the sudden loss of friends and family, can be truly unbearable, and responding to this depth of anguish is an imperative for society as a whole."

Echoing these thoughts, Rajendra Abhyankar, former ambassador and Professor, Indiana University, Bloomington said, "Only a shared sense of crisis will create conditions for nations and people to work together." Reflecting on Ikeda's concern for affected people, Shloka Nath, executive director of Indian Climate Collaborative and Head of Sustainability, said purposeful change requires a shared vision and goal.

"You have to ensure everyone you bring on board is gazing outward, in the same direction. That is the task before us, in combating climate change," she said. "It exemplifies what we know — no one is protected, and everyone has a responsibility. The time is now, and we have to come together."

Vishesh Gupta, Chairperson, BSG highlighted the importance of sensitizing youth as an imperative to bring about a change. "Young people are the game changers and natural peacemakers. Their power and passion can ignite the path to limitless growth and development for entire humanity towards the endless future", he said.

Buddhist philosopher and disarmament advocate Daisaku Ikeda's latest peace proposal — Towards Our Shared Future: Constructing an Era of Human Solidarity — urges nations to confront issues like natural disasters and climate change

In the throes of the century's worst-ever pandemic that has left a deep scar on humanity, India's intellectual elite urged a new direction for the world at a symposium on Buddhist philosopher and peace activist, Daisaku Ikeda's annual peace proposal to the United Nations.

Drawing from a repository of ancient wisdom and compassion that originated in India, Ikeda's latest peace proposal that is titled "Towards Our Shared Future: Constructing an Era of Human Solidarity," urges nations to recognize their common heritage to confront issues like natural disasters and climate change. Ikeda, President of Soka Gakkai International (SGI), submits a peace proposal to the UN every year, outlining pragmatic solutions to vexing global issues such as the impact of global warming and trade frictions.

Bharat Soka Gakkai (BSG), the Indian arm of SGI, conducted the peace symposium through a first-ever webinar. "The basis for the conscious pursuit of shared living is found in an appreciation that people who live under the shadow of severe threats are essentially no different from ourselves," says Ikeda.

Speakers at the peace symposium said such global solidarity must begin with rekindling core human values. "The world today needs youth imbibing the universal human values of truth, love, and compassion, holding the spirit of inclusion, embracing the ones who have fallen down, being sensitive to the environment around, youth who promote harmony and world peace, youth who are good human beings," said Prof Aditya Shastri, vice-chancellor, Banasthali Vidyapith. He emphasized upon the need for universal education to help bridge any gaps in society.

Keynote speaker Padma Vibhushan Dr Raghunath Mashelkar said, "Disruptive inclusive innovation, which can create the magic of access equality despite income inequality, will be the way to build our peaceful future." In his peace proposal, Ikeda says that the world needs to take a holistic approach to issues such as natural disasters and climate change which force people to abandon their long-accustomed homes. "Loss of connection to the land and the associated feelings of grief have been an inescapable aspect of major disasters such as earthquakes and tsunami," he says. "The pain, compounded by the sudden loss of friends and family, can be truly unbearable, and responding to this depth of anguish is an imperative for society as a whole."

Echoing these thoughts, Rajendra Abhyankar, former ambassador and Professor, Indiana University, Bloomington said, "Only a shared sense of crisis will create conditions for nations and people to work together." Reflecting on Ikeda's concern for affected people, Shloka Nath, executive director of Indian Climate Collaborative and Head of Sustainability, said purposeful change requires a shared vision and goal.

"You have to ensure everyone you bring on board is gazing outward, in the same direction. That is the task before us, in combating climate change," she said. "It exemplifies what we know — no one is protected, and everyone has a responsibility. The time is now, and we have to come together."

Vishesh Gupta, Chairperson, BSG highlighted the importance of sensitizing youth as an imperative to bring about a change. "Young people are the game changers and natural peacemakers. Their power and passion can ignite the path to limitless growth and development for entire humanity towards the endless future", he said.

UNI
BREVITY
ACCURACY
SPEED

United News of India

India's Multi Lingual News Agency

Tuesday, Aug 25 2020 | Time 20:04 Hrs(IST)

A shared vision is what the world needs to tackle natural disasters - BSG

New Delhi, Aug 24(UNI) In these times of global pandemic, and its scars leaving a deep impact on the psyche of the country and its people, a group of intellectuals here urged for a new direction for the world at a symposium on Buddhist philosopher and peace activist, Daisaku Ikeda's annual peace proposal to the United Nations here on Monday evening.

Ikeda's peace proposal is drawn out from a repository of ancient wisdom which originated in this land, and is titled "Towards Our Shared Future: Constructing an Era of Human Solidarity," which urges nations to recognize their common heritage with a view to confronting issues like natural disasters and climate change.

Ikeda, President of Soka Gakkai International (SGI), submits a peace proposal to the UN every year, outlining pragmatic solutions to vexing global issues such as the impact of global warming and trade frictions.

Please log in to get detailed story.

Amar Ujala

प्राकृतिक आपदाओं से निपटने को साझा दृष्टिकोण जरूरी: डॉ. इकेदा
शिमला। हिमाचल प्रदेश विश्वविद्यालय समेत भारत के 18 प्रतिष्ठित संस्थानों से सम्मानित हो चुके सोका गाक्काई इंटरनेशनल संस्था के अध्यक्ष डॉ. दाइसाकु इकेदा ने संयुक्त राष्ट्र संघ को प्रस्ताव दिया है।
इसमें उन्होंने कहा है कि विश्व के सम्मुख ग्लोबल वार्मिंग और राष्ट्रों के बीच परस्पर व्यापारिक टकराव जैसी ज्वलंत और कष्टप्रद समस्याओं का व्यावहारिक हल हो। प्राकृतिक आपदाओं से निपटने के लिए विश्व को साझा दृष्टिकोण अपनाने की जरूरत है। उन्होंने कहा है कि आज मानवता इस शताब्दी की सबसे भयावह बीमारी से जूझ रही है। इस महामारी ने मानवता को गहरी चोट पहुंचाई है। ब्यूरो

TOI (Shimla)

'World needs shared vision'

New Delhi: In the throes of the century's worst-ever pandemic, India's intellectual elite urged a new direction for the world at a symposium on Buddhist philosopher and peace activist Daisaku Ikeda's annual peace proposal to the United Nations. Ikeda, president of Soka Gakkai International (SGI), submits a peace proposal to the UN every year, outlining pragmatic solutions to vexing global issues such as the impact of global warming and trade frictions.

Ikeda's latest peace proposal, "Towards Our Shared Future: Constructing an Era of Human Solidarity", urges nations to recognise their common heritage to confront issues like natural disasters and climate change. Ikeda says the world needs to take a holistic approach to issues such as natural disasters and climate change which force people to abandon their homes.

Bharat Soka Gakkai (BSG), the Indian arm of SGI, conducted the peace symposium through a first-ever webinar. Speakers at the peace symposium said such global solidarity must begin with rekindling core human values. TNN

आपदा से निपटने के लिए साझा प्रयास हो : डॉ. माशलेकर

जयपुर समाचार जगत न्यूज। पद्मभूषण डॉ. रघुनाथ माशलेकर का कहना है कि हमारे शांतिपूर्ण भविष्य के निर्माण के लिए एक ऐसे क्रांतिकारी समावेशी नवाचार की आवश्यकता है जो आय में असमानता के बाद भी पहुंच और समानता का जादू पैदा कर सके। भारत सोका गकाई की ओर से 'अपने साझे भविष्य की ओर: मानव एकजुटता के युग का निर्माण' विषय पर आयोजित वेबिनार में उन्होंने कहा कि जब तक ऐसे नवाचार नहीं होंगे दुनिया में शांति की स्थापना नहीं हो सकेगी। वेबिनार में वनस्थली विद्यापीठ के कुलपति डॉ. आदित्य शास्त्री ने कहा कि आज विश्व को सत्य, प्रेम और करुणा रूपी मूल्यों को आत्मसात करने वाले युवाओं की जरूरत है। वेबिनार में सोका गकाई के प्रेसिडेंट दायसाकू इकेदा के विचारों का समर्थन करते हुए पूर्व राजदूत और ब्लूमिंगटन स्थित इंडियाना यूनिवर्सिटी के प्रोफेसर राजेंद्र अम्बरकर का कहना था कि सभी देशों और लोगों को एकजुट होकर काम करने की परिस्थितियां तभी जन्म ले सकती हैं जब लोगों में संकट के प्रति साझी संवेदनशीलता जागृत होगी। वहीं भारतीय जलवायु सहयोग की कार्यकारी निदेशिका से और सतत विकास की अध्यक्ष श्लोकनाथ का कहना था कि उद्देश्यपूर्ण बदलाव के लिए एक साझे दृष्टिकोण और लक्ष्य की जरूरत होती है।

वेबिनार

आज सत्य, प्रेम व करुणा रूपी मूल्यों को आत्मसात करने वाले युवाओं की जरूरत : डॉ. आदित्य

आपदा से निपटने को साझा प्रयास जरूरी: डॉ. रघुनाथ

डेली न्यूज, mix रिपोर्टर

जयपुर। पद्मभूषण डॉ. रघुनाथ माशलेकर का कहना है कि हमारे शांतिपूर्ण भविष्य के निर्माण के लिए एक ऐसे क्रांतिकारी समावेशी नवाचार की आवश्यकता है जो आय में असमानता के बाद भी पहुंच और समानता का जादू पैदा कर सके। भारत सोका गकाई की ओर से 'अपने साझे भविष्य की ओर: मानव एकजुटता के युग का निर्माण' विषय पर आयोजित वेबिनार में उनका कहना था कि जब तक ऐसे नवाचार नहीं होंगे दुनिया

में शांति की स्थापना नहीं हो सकेगी। वेबिनार में वनस्थली विद्यापीठ के कुलपति डॉ. आदित्य शास्त्री ने कहा कि आज विश्व को सत्य, प्रेम और करुणा रूपी मूल्यों को आत्मसात करने वाले युवाओं की जरूरत है। ऐसे युवा जो समावेशी विचारधारा के हों, परिवारण के प्रति संवेदनशील हो, सद्भाव और विश्व शांति को बढ़ावा देने वाले हों, गिरे हुए को गले लगाने वाले हों और अच्छे इंसान हों। उन्होंने समाज के विभिन्न वर्गों के बीच किसी भी प्रकार की दूरी को पाटने के लिए सार्वभौमिक शिक्षा की जरूरत पर बल दिया।

उद्देश्यपूर्ण बदलाव के लिए एक साझे दृष्टिकोण की जरूरत

वेबिनार में सोका गकाई के प्रेसिडेंट दायसाकू इकेदा के विचारों का समर्थन करते हुए पूर्व राजदूत और ब्लूमिंगटन स्थित इंडियाना यूनिवर्सिटी के प्रोफेसर राजेंद्र अम्बरकर का कहना था कि सभी देशों और लोगों को एकजुट होकर काम करने की परिस्थितियां तभी जन्म ले सकती हैं जब लोगों में संकट के प्रति साझी संवेदनशीलता जागृत होगी। वहीं भारतीय जलवायु सहयोग की कार्यकारी निदेशिका और सतत विकास की अध्यक्ष श्लोकनाथ का कहना था कि उद्देश्यपूर्ण बदलाव के लिए एक साझे दृष्टिकोण और लक्ष्य की जरूरत होती है। आपको सुनिश्चित करना होगा कि जिस किसी को भी आपने अपने उद्देश्य की पूर्ति के लिए चुना है, वह खुलेमन से उसी दिशा में सचेत। अब समय आ गया है कि हम सभी को एक साथ आना होगा। बीएसटी के अध्यक्ष विशेष गुप्ता ने बदलाव लाने के लिए युवाओं को संवेदनशील बनाने के महत्व पर प्रकाश डाला। उन्होंने कहा कि युवा अपनी सोच से परिस्थितियों को बदलने की दायित्व रखता है और स्वाभाविक रूप से शक्ति के लिए काम करते हैं। उनकी शक्ति और जोश पूरी मानव जाति के अनंत भविष्य के लिए असीम विकास का सतत प्रज्वलित कर सकती है। गौरवशाली है कि सोका गकाई इंटरनेशनल के अध्यक्ष डॉ. इकेदा ने संयुक्त राष्ट्र को प्राचीन भारतीय ज्ञान और करुणा पर आधारित अपने नवीनतम शक्ति प्रस्ताव (अपने साझे भविष्य की ओर: मानव एकजुटता के युग का निर्माण) भेजा है। जिसमें उन्होंने दुनिया के सभी देशों से प्राकृतिक आपदाओं और जलवायु परिवर्तन जैसे मुद्दों का सामना करने के लिए अपनी साझे शिरासत को पहचानने का आग्रह किया है। इसी विषय पर यह वेबिनार आयोजित की गई थी।

DD News

डॉ. दाइसाकु इकेदा के शांति प्रस्ताव पर संगोष्ठी का आयोजन

का उम्मीदवार चुना ■ चीन और अमेरिका ने व्यापार बैठक में आर्थिक सहयोग पर चर्चा की 1:51 PM

ସୋକା ଗାକାର୍ଡର ଭର୍ଚୁଆଲ 'ଶାନ୍ତି ସମ୍ମିଳନୀ'; ସାମିଲ ହେଲେ ଓଡ଼ିଶାରୁ ଅନେକ

हिन्दी मिलाप

भारत सोका गाक्कार्ड का वेबिनार आयोजित

हैदराबाद, 24 अगस्त-(मिलाप ब्यूरो) सोका गाक्कार्ड इंटरनेशनल (एसजीआई) से संबद्ध भारत सोका गाक्कार्ड (बीएसजी) की शांति संगोष्ठी वेबिनार के माध्यम से आयोजित की गयी।

आज यहाँ जारी प्रेस विज्ञप्ति के अनुसार, वेबिनार में एसजीआई के अध्यक्ष डॉ. दाइसाकु इकेदा ने कहा कि मानव शताब्दी की सबसे बड़ी महामारी से जूझ रहा है। इस पीड़ादायक दौर में बौद्ध दार्शनिक एवं शांति की अपनाने पर ध्यान देने की आवश्यकता है। दुनिया के समस्त राष्ट्रों को प्राकृतिक आपदाओं और जलवायु परिवर्तन जैसे मुद्दों पर कार्य करने की आवश्यकता है। आज के परिवेश को देखते हुए वैश्विक एकजुटता की शुरुआत कर मूलभूत मानवीय मूल्यों को पुनर्जागृत किए जाने की जरूरत है। उन्होंने कहा कि एसजीआई के 192 देशों से 12 मिलियन

से अधिक सदस्य हैं, जिसकी स्थापना प्रमुख रूप से शांति के लिए की गयी। बीएसजी सोका गाक्कार्ड इंटरनेशनल की भारतीय सहयोगी संस्था है। भारत के 500 नगरों से काफी सदस्य इससे जुड़े हुए हैं।

अवसर पर बनस्थली विद्यापीठ के कुलपति डॉ. आदित्य शास्त्री ने कहा कि आज विश्व को सत्य, प्रेम और करुणा रूपी मूल्यों को आत्मसात करने वाले युवाओं की आवश्यकता है। ऐसे युवा जो समावेशी विचारधारा के हों, पर्यावरण के प्रति संवेदनशील हों, सद्भाव और विश्व शांति को बढ़ावा देने वाले हों और गिरे हुए को गले लगाने वाले हों। मुख्य वक्ता पद्मविभूषण डॉ. रघुनाथ माशेलकर ने कहा कि शांति के लिए एक ऐसे क्रांतिकारी समावेशी नवाचार की आवश्यकता है, जो असमानता के बावजूद अपनी पहुँच से समानता का प्रयास करे। वेबिनार में विभिन्न देशों के सदस्यों ने भाग लिया।

अपने साझे भविष्य की ओर मानव एकजुटता के युग का निर्माण पर वेबीनार

प्राकृतिक आपदा से निपटने के लिए साझा प्रयास जरूरी : माशलेकर

पत्रिका न्यूज नेटवर्क
patrika.com

नई दिल्ली. 'अपने साझे भविष्य की ओर मानव एकजुटता के युग का निर्माण' विषय पर आयोजित वेबीनार में पद्मभूषण डॉ. रघुनाथ माशलेकर ने कहा कि हमारे शांतिपूर्ण भविष्य के निर्माण के लिए एक ऐसे क्रांतिकारी समावेशी नवाचार की आवश्यकता है जो आय में असमानता के बाद भी पहुंच और समानता का जादू पैदा कर सके। जब तक ऐसे नवाचार नहीं होंगे दुनिया में शांति की स्थापना नहीं हो सकेगी। भारत सोका गकाई की ओर से आयोजित कार्यक्रम में शांतिपूर्ण भविष्य के निर्माण पर जोर दिया। वेबीनार में वनस्थली विद्यापीठ के कुलपति डॉ. आदित्य शास्त्री ने कहा कि विश्व को सत्य, प्रेम और करुणा रूपी मूल्यों को आत्मसात करने वाले युवाओं की जरूरत है। ऐसे युवा जो समावेशी विचारधारा के हों, पर्यावरण के प्रति संवेदनशील हों, सद्भाव और विश्व शांति को बढ़ावा देने वाले हों, गिरे हुए को गले लगाने वाले हों।

और ब्लूमिंगटन स्थित इंडियाना यूनिवर्सिटी के प्रोफेसर राजेंद्र अंभ्यकर ने भी अपने मन की बात रखी। कहा- देश और लोगों को एकजुट होकर काम करने की परिस्थितियां तभी पैदा होती हैं जब लोगों में संकट के प्रति साझी संवेदनशीलता जागृत होगी। भारतीय जलवायु सहयोग की कार्यकारी निर्देशिका और सतत विकास की अध्यक्ष श्लोकनाथ ने कहा कि यह सुनिश्चित करना होगा कि जिसको भी आपने उद्देश्य की पूर्ति के लिए चुना है, वह खुलेमन से उसी दिशा में सोचे। बीएसजी के अध्यक्ष विशेष गुप्ता ने बदलाव लाने के लिए युवाओं को संवेदनशील बनाने के महत्व पर प्रकाश डाला। गौरतलब है कि सोका गकाई इंटरनेशनल के अध्यक्ष डॉ. इकेदा ने संयुक्त राष्ट्र को प्राचीन भारतीय ज्ञान और करुणा पर आधारित अपने नवीनतम शांति प्रस्ताव (अपने साझे भविष्य की ओर मानव एकजुटता के युग का निर्माण) भेजा है। जिसमें उन्होंने दुनिया के सभी देशों से प्राकृतिक आपदाओं और जलवायु परिवर्तन के

अपने साझे भविष्य की ओर मानव एकजुटता के युग का निर्माण पर वेबीनार

'आपदा से निपटने के लिए साझा प्रयास जरूरी'

पत्रिका न्यूज नेटवर्क
patrika.com

नई दिल्ली. अपने साझे भविष्य की ओर से मानव एकजुटता के युग का निर्माण विषय पर आयोजित वेबीनार में पद्मभूषण डॉ. रघुनाथ माशलेकर ने कहा कि हमारे शांतिपूर्ण भविष्य के निर्माण के लिए एक ऐसे क्रांतिकारी समावेशी नवाचार की आवश्यकता है, जो आय में असमानता के बाद भी पहुंच और समानता का जादू पैदा कर सके। जब तक ऐसे नवाचार नहीं होंगे, दुनिया में शांति की स्थापना नहीं हो सकेगी। भारत सोका गकाई

की ओर से आयोजित कार्यक्रम में शांतिपूर्ण भविष्य के निर्माण पर जोर दिया। वेबीनार में वनस्थली विद्यापीठ के कुलपति डॉ. आदित्य शास्त्री ने कहा कि विश्व को सत्य, प्रेम और करुणा रूपी मूल्यों को आत्मसात करने वाले युवाओं की जरूरत है। ऐसे युवा जो समावेशी विचारधारा के हों, पर्यावरण के प्रति संवेदनशील हों, सद्भाव और विश्व शांति को बढ़ावा देने वाले हों, गिरे हुए को गले लगाने वाले हों।

वेबीनार में सोका गकाई के प्रेसिडेंट दायसाकू इकेदा के विचारों का समर्थन करते हुए पूर्व राजदूत

और ब्लूमिंगटन स्थित इंडियाना यूनिवर्सिटी के प्रोफेसर राजेंद्र अंभ्यकर ने भी मन की बात रखी। कहा कि देश और लोगों को एकजुट होकर काम करने की परिस्थितियां तभी पैदा होती हैं जब लोगों में संकट के प्रति साझी संवेदनशीलता जागृत होगी।

भारतीय जलवायु सहयोग की कार्यकारी निर्देशिका और सतत विकास की अध्यक्ष श्लोकनाथ ने कहा कि यह सुनिश्चित करना होगा कि जिसको भी आपने उद्देश्य की पूर्ति के लिए चुना है, वह खुलेमन से उसी दिशा में सोचे। बीएसजी के

अध्यक्ष विशेष गुप्ता ने बदलाव लाने के लिए युवाओं को संवेदनशील बनाने के महत्व पर प्रकाश डाला। गौरतलब है कि सोका गकाई इंटरनेशनल के अध्यक्ष डॉ. इकेदा ने संयुक्त राष्ट्र को प्राचीन भारतीय ज्ञान और करुणा पर आधारित अपने नवीनतम शांति प्रस्ताव (अपने साझे भविष्य की ओर मानव एकजुटता के युग का निर्माण) भेजा है। इसमें उन्होंने दुनिया के सभी देशों से प्राकृतिक आपदाओं और जलवायु परिवर्तन जैसे मुद्दों का सामना करने के लिए अपनी साझी विरासत को पहचानने का आग्रह किया है।

The world needs a shared vision to tackle natural disasters

By Saptarsi Biswas -- 2020-08-26

Ikeda, President of Soka Gakkai International (SGI), submits a peace proposal to the UN every year, outlining pragmatic solutions to vexing global issues such as the impact of global warming and trade frictions.

Bharat Soka Gakkai (BSG), the Indian arm of SGI, conducted the peace symposium through a first-ever webinar.

“The basis for the conscious pursuit of shared living is found in an appreciation that people who live under the shadow of severe threats are essentially no different from ourselves,” says Ikeda.

Speakers at the peace symposium said such global solidarity must begin with rekindling core human values.

“The world today needs youth imbibing the universal human values of truth, love, and compassion, holding the spirit of inclusion, embracing the ones who have fallen down, being sensitive to the environment around, youth who promote harmony and world peace, youth who are good human beings,” said Prof Aditya Shastri, vice-chancellor, Banasthali Vidyapith. He emphasized upon the need for universal education to help bridge any gaps in society.

Keynote speaker Padma Vibhushan Dr Raghunath Mashelkar said, “Disruptive inclusive innovation, which can create the magic of access equality despite income inequality, will be the way to build our peaceful future.”

In his peace proposal, Ikeda says that the world needs to take a holistic approach to issues such as natural disasters and climate change which force people to abandon their long-accustomed homes.

“Loss of connection to the land and the associated feelings of grief have been an inescapable aspect of major disasters such as earthquakes and tsunami,” he says. “The pain, compounded by the sudden loss of friends and family, can be truly unbearable, and responding to this depth of anguish is an imperative for society as a whole.”

Echoing these thoughts, Rajendra Abhyankar, former ambassador and Professor, Indiana University, Bloomington said, “Only a shared sense of crisis will create conditions for nations and people to work together.”

Reflecting on Ikeda’s concern for affected people, Shloka Nath, executive director of Indian Climate Collaborative and Head of Sustainability, said purposeful change requires a shared vision and goal.

“You have to ensure everyone you bring on board is gazing outward, in the same direction. That is the task before us, in combating climate change,” she said. “It exemplifies what we know — no one is protected, and everyone has a responsibility. The time is now, and we have to come together.”

Vishesh Gupta, Chairperson, BSG highlighted the importance of sensitizing youth as an imperative to bring about a change. “Young people are the game changers and natural peacemakers. Their power and passion can ignite the path to limitless growth and development for entire humanity towards the endless future”, he said.

Daisaku Ikeda is the President of Soka Gakkai International is a peacebuilder, philosopher and prolific writer. He is a recipient of around 395 honorary doctorates from universities across the globe. In India, he has been the recipient of 18 academic honours including honorary doctorates/professorships from the University of Delhi, Rabindra Bharati

University, Visva-Bharati University in Santiniketan, Himachal Pradesh University and Bharathidasan University, and Manav Rachna University, among several others. Recognizing his contribution to peace, President Ikeda has been conferred with over 800 honorary citizenships. Among the various awards and accolades, he has also been conferred the UN Peace Award in 1983

The world needs a shared vision to tackle natural disasters: Bharat Soka Gakkai

YES PUNJAB.COM

August 25, 2020

Ikeda, President of Soka Gakkai International (SGI), submits a peace proposal to the UN every year, outlining pragmatic solutions to vexing global issues such as the impact of global warming and trade frictions.

Bharat Soka Gakkai (BSG), the Indian arm of SGI, conducted the peace symposium through a first-ever webinar.

“The basis for the conscious pursuit of shared living is found in an appreciation that people who live under the shadow of severe threats are essentially no different from ourselves,” says Ikeda.

Speakers at the peace symposium said such global solidarity must begin with rekindling core human values.

“The world today needs youth imbibing the universal human values of truth, love, and compassion, holding the spirit of inclusion, embracing the ones who have fallen down, being sensitive to the environment around, youth who promote harmony and world peace, youth who are good human beings,” said Prof Aditya Shastri, vice-chancellor, Banasthali Vidyapith. He emphasized upon the need for universal education to help bridge any gaps in society.

Keynote speaker Padma Vibhushan Dr Raghunath Mashelkar said, “Disruptive inclusive innovation, which can create the magic of access equality despite income inequality, will be the way to build our peaceful future.”

In his peace proposal, Ikeda says that the world needs to take a holistic approach to issues such as natural disasters and climate change which force people to abandon their long-accustomed homes.

“Loss of connection to the land and the associated feelings of grief have been an inescapable aspect of major disasters such as earthquakes and tsunami,” he says. “The pain, compounded by the sudden loss of friends and family, can be truly unbearable, and responding to this depth of anguish is an imperative for society as a whole.”

Echoing these thoughts, Rajendra Abhyankar, former ambassador and Professor, Indiana University, Bloomington said, “Only a shared sense of crisis will create conditions for nations and people to work together.”

Reflecting on Ikeda’s concern for affected people, Shloka Nath, executive director of Indian Climate Collaborative and Head of Sustainability, said purposeful change requires a shared vision and goal.

“You have to ensure everyone you bring on board is gazing outward, in the same direction. That is the task before us, in combating climate change,” she said. “It exemplifies what we know — no one is protected, and everyone has a responsibility. The time is now, and we have to come together.”

Vishesh Gupta, Chairperson, BSG highlighted the importance of sensitizing youth as an imperative to bring about a change. “Young people are the game changers and natural peacemakers. Their power and passion can ignite the path to limitless growth and development for entire humanity towards the endless future”, he said.

Daisaku Ikeda is the President of Soka Gakkai International is a peacebuilder, philosopher and prolific writer. He is a recipient of around 395 honorary doctorates from universities across the globe. In India, he has been the recipient of 18 academic honours including honorary doctorates/professorships from the University of Delhi, Rabindra Bharati

University, Visva-Bharati University in Santiniketan, Himachal Pradesh University and Bharathidasan University, and Manav Rachna University, among several others. Recognizing his contribution to peace, President Ikeda has been conferred with over 800 honorary citizenships. Among the various awards and accolades, he has also been conferred the UN Peace Award in 1983

The world needs a shared vision to tackle natural disasters

Ikeda, President of Soka Gakkai International (SGI), submits a peace proposal to the UN every year, outlining pragmatic solutions to vexing global issues such as the impact of global warming and trade frictions.

Bharat Soka Gakkai (BSG), the Indian arm of SGI, conducted the peace symposium through a first-ever webinar.

“The basis for the conscious pursuit of shared living is found in an appreciation that people who live under the shadow of severe threats are essentially no different from ourselves,” says Ikeda.

Speakers at the peace symposium said such global solidarity must begin with rekindling core human values.

“The world today needs youth imbibing the universal human values of truth, love, and compassion, holding the spirit of inclusion, embracing the ones who have fallen down, being sensitive to the environment around, youth who promote harmony and world peace, youth who are good human beings,” said Prof Aditya Shastri, vice-chancellor, Banasthali Vidyapith. He emphasized upon the need for universal education to help bridge any gaps in society.

Keynote speaker Padma Vibhushan Dr Raghunath Mashelkar said, “Disruptive inclusive innovation, which can create the magic of access equality despite income inequality, will be the way to build our peaceful future.”

In his peace proposal, Ikeda says that the world needs to take a holistic approach to issues such as natural disasters and climate change which force people to abandon their long-accustomed homes.

“Loss of connection to the land and the associated feelings of grief have been an inescapable aspect of major disasters such as earthquakes and tsunami,” he says. “The pain, compounded by the sudden loss of friends and family, can be truly unbearable, and responding to this depth of anguish is an imperative for society as a whole.”

Echoing these thoughts, Rajendra Abhyankar, former ambassador and Professor, Indiana University, Bloomington said, “Only a shared sense of crisis will create conditions for nations and people to work together.”

Reflecting on Ikeda’s concern for affected people, Shloka Nath, executive director of Indian Climate Collaborative and Head of Sustainability, said purposeful change requires a shared vision and goal.

“You have to ensure everyone you bring on board is gazing outward, in the same direction. That is the task before us, in combating climate change,” she said. “It exemplifies what we know — no one is protected, and everyone has a responsibility. The time is now, and we have to come together.”

Vishesh Gupta, Chairperson, BSG highlighted the importance of sensitizing youth as an imperative to bring about a change. “Young people are the game changers and natural peacemakers. Their power and passion can ignite the path to limitless growth and development for entire humanity towards the endless future”, he said.

Daisaku Ikeda is the President of Soka Gakkai International is a peacebuilder, philosopher and prolific writer. He is a recipient of around 395 honorary doctorates from universities across the globe. In India, he has been the recipient of 18 academic honours including honorary doctorates/professorships from the University of Delhi, Rabindra Bharati

University, Visva-Bharati University in Santiniketan, Himachal Pradesh University and Bharathidasan University, and Manav Rachna University, among several others. Recognizing his contribution to peace, President Ikeda has been conferred with over 800 honorary citizenships. Among the various awards and accolades, he has also been conferred the UN Peace Award in 1983